35 Years Serving Australia's Industrial Electrical & Automation Industry

At Dore Electrics we understand the fast-moving environment you work in and how important it is to get quality industrial electrical components, quickly.

If, like many of our customers, you don't have time to waste and you want high quality products delivered quickly, you're in the right place.

Since 1988, Dore Electrics has specialised in supplying and stock holding high quality industrial electrical components to customers who rely on product quality and fast availability.

As a local and 100% Australian owned business we stock over 7000 products in our warehouse including premium worldwide recognised brands in power, industrial automation and control, along with an extensive range of consumables, to meet our customers' evolving needs.

With over 30 years in the industry, we proudly maintain a loyal customer base that is well-established and dedicated to long-term partnerships.

With over 35 years of service to the Electrical Industry, Dore Electrics' reputation has been founded on:

- > A commitment to customer service excellence
- > Long-standing, trusted and valued relationships
- > High product quality
- > Fast product availability

By cultivating strong partnerships with leading global suppliers in power, industrial automation, and control, we ensure that our customers receive the high-quality products essential for their success.

We're proud to be a trusted supplier of some of the world's leading brands in industrial electrical products
